DEATH AND RUIN.

A Terrible Picture of Suffering and Devas NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 4.—(By the Associated Press.) The disaster at Grand Island and Cheniere is unparalleled in this section. The first authentic news this section. The first authentic news came this morning, when several survivors reached here. They tell heart-rending stories. A tidal wave swept over the island, destroying lives and property on all sides. One hundred and forty-five families are said to have perished. The death list will run up to the hundreds. Among the dead is Dr. Frey, a prominent physician, and his wife. The steamer Joe Weber was blown to pieces, and several of the

Some people here, who are familiar with the topography of Grand Isle, are inclined to think the stories of destruction there are exaggerated. This is not the first time the island has been reported washed away. The island is practically cut off from communica tion, the only means of obtaining infor-mation being through a passenger steamer that piles between this city and the island, and luggers in the oyster

'The house of George Cefarochi was washed away, and the man, his wife and three children, were all drowned. The next neighbor was a man named Barton. His two daughters were drowned. Only one person was saved from the Oyster Rayou catastrophe. He was found hanging by one hand to a post, unconscious; he will die. The wife and children of Thomas Moryo were lost at Bayou Cook. John Stook, an Italian boy, was instantly killed. Luke Detrovitch lost four daughters, his wife, and two of his sailors. On Simon Isles there were eighteen inhabitants of oyster camps, and sixteen were drowned. On Razor Island was a camp of five men, all of whom were drowned. On Bird Island, about 150 people lived, All were drowned. On Grand Lank eight persons were killed. It is now esti-mated that the loss of life on Grand

Adans, Chaton and Oyster Bayou set-tlements will reach from 800 to 1000. Matthews Weertzez and Dominic

Matthews Weertzez and Dominic Mirgodich, sailors, were rescued by one of the luggers. The story they tell of the disaster to Grand Isle is horrifying in the extreme. During the recital of the scenes of that terrible night they wept bitterly. They said that the sea was raging all day and increased alarmingly toward night. About 10 p.m. the wind shifted to the southwest. These men lived on the west end of the island. Far out at sea, as the flashes of lightning illuminated the darkness, a mammoth wave could be seen traveling with wonderful rapidity toward the island, accompanied by a noise like thunder. On came the terrible thing, growing larger momentarrible thing, growing larger momentarily. The islands were wrapped in slumber. The men, too frightened to go to their homes, remained in their boat during the terrible night. Horrified, they watched the tidal wave approach the island, until it struck. Then all was darkness, and the islands, as far as the eye could reach, were covered with water.

With the next flash of lightning the two fishermen found themselves far off to the north of the island, and, look-ing about, could see nothing but heav-ing waters, the land having totally disappeared.

Matthew Schurts of Gouldsboro, one Matthew Schurts of Gouldsboro, one of the survivors of the Cheniere-Camindo calamity, arrived this morning, and brought a harrowing tale of the loss of life there. He was engaged there constructing a schoolhouse, and boarded in the house where twenty-five people lodged. The house was demolished, and he believed that about all of the inmates were killed. Schurts himself was fearfully knocked about and bruised, and his clothes were torn and bruised, and his clothes were torn to shreds. He estimates the loss of life on Grand Isle, Cheniere and in Grand and Adams bays, and in Cook, Chalton and Oyster Bay settlements at from eight hundred to a thousand. When he left Cheniere Island yesterday he counted but five houses standing out of a total of about three hundred. The land was covered with corpses. As the wind increased in severity, the houses began to go to pieces. The wind took the roofs off as though they had been shaved from the rafters with a great carving-knife. Then buildings great carving-knife. Then buildings began to rock violently, and, one by one, they were torn to pieces, crash-ing down upon and killing the occupants, then rapidly drifting away with the land. The shrieks and groans of the unfortunate people were heart-rending as they were buried in the ruins of their frail homes. In the house in which Schurts was there were fully twenty-five people hud-dled together terror-stricken. Sud-denly there was a fearful crash of timbers, and the roof caved in, burying nearly everyone of the party. Only Schurts and a negro escaped.

Schurts and a negro escaped.

Schurts clung to the floating debris until he saw a light twinkling in a houses not far away. He swam to the house and was admitted. There were everal people in the house. Schurts and hardly entered, however, when the had hardly entered, however, when the structure went to pleces, and out of those who were in the house, Schurts, a lady and a child escaped. Schurts succeeded in getting the lady and baby to a tree. There the party stayed till morning, when the wind began to abate. The negro bricklayer managed to reach a pole to which fishing smacks are usually fied, and clung to that during the whole of the awful night until finally rescued.

Cheniere bettlement was even more

Cheniere settlement was even mor thickly populated than Grand Island. It comprised a colony of 1400 souls, the Spanish race predominating. Hundreds of fishing smacks, owned by residents, were either beached or demolished. The priest who looked after the spiritual welfare of the islanders was among pled the house with him as his house-keeper, was likewise spared. The fate of Dr. Fry and family is unknown, but he is missing, and probably the en-tire family perished. The body of Miss Annie Douglass, a school teacher, was found among the wreckage. Scores of better lying around are berinning to be less lying around are beginning to show signs of decomposition, and for the safety of the rest of the colony, it became necessary to bury them im-mediately. There is no time to make ordens nor materiels or implements, so the living dug trenches in which to de-

Up to 12 o'clock Schurts assisted in the grewsome task, and participated in the interment of not less than fifty persons. Rebe Rando saved himself, wife and children by swimming about until he gathered sufficient lumber to make an impromptu raft. He put the family upon it and they drifted to a place of safety. Tom Valance, wife and several children are believed drowned, as well as his brother Tay, wife and three children.

It will never be accurately known how many lives are lost. The population of Cheniere was about fourteen hundred, and Schurts thinks that at least a thousand are missing. It is impossible as yet to give the financial loss, but it runs into hundreds of thou-sands of dollars. Unless steps are im-mediately taken for relief it is not unlikely that many will perish from starvation and thirst.
It is variously estimated that from 200 to 500 people perished on Bayou Cook. The deaths at other points will swell the total to not less than 1200.

Substitute for the Geary Bill Offered,

And Early Action Thereon is Recommended.

Colored Representative on Force at the Polls-Secretary Carlisle on the Purchase of Silver-Some

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 .- (By the Associated Press.) Strenuous efforts have been made by the Congressmen favoring and those opposing the McCreary substitute for the Geary bill to agree upon a time when the bill shall be considered. It is feared that there will be no quorum in the House. As soon tion law repeal bill efforts will be made to get the bill up as soon after this as possible

Some of its opponents want to put it off until the first of next November, to wait for a quorum. There is little doubt expressed that the bill will go through as soon as a vote can be reached. Several Western members are preparing speeches which will severely arraign the administration for non-enforcement of the Geary law.

Secretary Carlisle sent the House to-day a reply to the resolution of that body asking him why the 4,500,000 of silver bullion were not pur-during July and August, as required by law. The reply says: "As the United States is the largest purchaser of silver in the world, the Sec retary of the Treasury after examina tion of the offers and quotations each day, should determine what, in his judgment, is a fair market price. He either has to purchase 4,500,000 ounces at the dealers' prices, no matter how unreasonable or exorbitant, or he must employ such means as are at his com mand to ascertain the actual market

A resolution by Senator Dolph, calling for information as to the pensions paid persons residing in foreign countries was agreed to.

The repeal bill was taken up and Sen-ator Butler of South Carolina addressed the Senate. He said it was apparent that it was the purpose of those Sen-ators who favored the bill, to force it through the Senate without regard to and consideration of the rights of the majority. The minority of the Senata was not attempting to coerce anybody and did not intend to be coerced themselves.

"I am asked," said Senator Butler,
"what is to be done. I reply comproaise. A compromise is the solution of mise. A compromise is the solution of the struggle, but we are told that com-promise means defeat, and surrender to the majority. Compromise is the very essence of our form of govern-ment; not a measure which is con-tested in this House or the other, be-comes a law executes the result of comes a law except as the result of Senator Blackburn of Kentucky ad-dressed the Senate in opposition to the bill. He said he was a bimetallist in the broadest and truest sense of the word. The repeal of the Sherman law would not cure the troubles under which the country labored. The tariff system must be revised and the pro-hibitive features eliminated; wider mar-kets must be obtained for the products of labor; the financial system must be remodeled; gold and silver must be made the standards; paper money be based upon these standards, and issued direct by the government, and not filtered through agents of petted and fostered national banks; the 10 per cent. tax on State bank currency must be repealed; the government must be economically administered, and the pen-sion list purged of speculation and Representative Lane of Illinois maintained that armed men at the polls should be withdrawn now and foreyer.

Representative Murray, the colored Republican from South Carolina, closed the day's debate. "If I owe allegiance to the government," said he, "then the government, which squeezes my lifeblood out in taxes, owes protection to me. The guardian of State's sovereignty is again hovering about the dome of the capitol. I submit that men armed with rifles and shotguns who armed with rifles and shotguns who stand at the ballot-box to murder or terrorize us, to prevent us from voting are as much the armed enemies of the United States as an invading army.

Just before the House adjourned,

Chairman Fitch of the committee reporting the bill, introduced a substitute which strikes out the section of the re-vised statutes empowering the military to keep peace at the polls, and re-pealing all laws regarding the appointment of supervisors or deputy mar-shals. The substitute would leave in force the election laws relating to the punishment of private individuals for bribery, and above all, would leave in force the declaratory principles of the fifteenth amendment. CHICAGO, Oct. 4.-(By the Associated Press.) The members of the Asociated Press held a special meetng at the Grand Pacific Hotel in this city today. It is the first time in the history of the organization that the newspapers embraced in the Associated Press membership were ever called together in extraordinary session, as it has never before been deemed necessary to call the owners of the great news papers of the country together outside of the regular annual session.

The special purpose of the meeting was to provide for an increase in the capital stock of the organization, to enable the management to widen the field of its operations so as to include the entire country. Hitherto, this association has confined its membership to the territory west of the Alleghany Mountains, although its news has em braced the information of the entire globe, and it has had working alliances with all of the leading news-gathering organizations of the world. The attendance was larger than at any previous meeting of a press asso-ciation ever held in this country. This was largely due to the fact that a deep interest had been aroused by the machinations of three men, under the eadership of a Chicago banker, looking to the seizure of the business of gathering and distributing news, and the conversion of it into a private trust. The menace alike to the profession and the general public inprofession and the general public in-volved in this attempt, was so great as to create general alarm, and call for prompt and heroic measures. So alarming was the threat, that it was felt by everyone to reach entirely beyond the lines of the newspapers and touch, in a vital way, the interests of every citizen. Two or three attempts of such a character had been made in the past, notably one by Jay Gould, but all came to grief because of the natural refusal of any of the newspapers of the country to print their news. The present e.fort, cloaked under the inviting name of the United Press, and posing as an association, has succeeded in securing patronage from a number of important journals, chiefly in the East, and it was this fact, that attracted the attention and aroused the spirit of the members of the Associated Press who assembled today.

aroused the spirit of the members of the Associated Press who assembled today.

Besides the members proper enumerated above, there were also present and quite as deeply interested, the representatives of the allied associations of the Associated Press, all of which are upon the same co-operative plan, and represent an aggregate membership running into the hundreds. It was the unanimous opinion of those assembled, that the time was ripe for a great national Associated Press organization, such as has never existed in this country, and which should extend from the Atlantic to the Pacific, embracing in its membership all of the leading daily newspapers, while preserving the autonomy of the various sectional associations for local purposes.

The plan of organization provides for an absolutely equal stockholding night for each member. This insures the most perfect equality among the Laembers. The administration is placed in the hands of a board of directors, sepresenting every section of the country and every considerable interest, and the general manager, is also elected annually. This policy throws about the news service the best possible safeguards, and necessitates the most thorough accountability by the management of its every act. In response to urgent applications from leading newspapers in the East, it was found necessary to increase the capital stock.

William Penn Nixon, president of the Associated Press, occupied the chair. Victor F. Lawson, chairman of the Executive Committee, offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

"Resolved, that the board of directors be instructed to take the necessary

AFTERMATH.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—One of the most remarkable gatherings of newspaper editors and proprietors, representing the Associated Press, from the Alleghany Mountains to the Pacific Coast, north and south, that ever met in this country, was that which assembled at the Grand Pacific Hotel tonight.

The object of the meeting was to decide whether the great journals of this country would continue to gather and interchange unbiased news at cost, and thus maintain the high standard of the Associated Press. dispatches which has existed for nearly a half century, or whether the steek-jobbing corporation of recent date, known as the United whether the stick-jobing corporation of recent date, known as the United Press, and controlled by two men, namely, Charles A. Dana of New York and John R. Watsh, a banker in Chicago, should dominate the press of America.

The result of this meeting was substantially as follows: Every paper in the Western territory which took the United and Associated Press dispatches has cut out the United Press, with the exception of two papers in Cincinnati and one in Oregon, and they will cut them out. The United Press has lost $200,000 per anarm of revenue in the Western territory, and, in addition to that, pledges have been made that no a line of news will be furnished to the private corporation known as the private corporation known as the United Press. In addition twenty-five of the leading Eastern papers are negotiating for admission to the Associated Press, and will come in in a block. The Associated Press has won its fight, and the battle was short and decisive.

HONOLULU, Sept. 26.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press via San Francisco. Oct. 4.) Among the events happening recently was the grand ball given by the citizens of Honolulu to the officers of the U.S.S. Boston, and the surrender of eleven lepers on the Island of Kaual. The news which the people expected from the United States regarding annexation has not yet arrived, and there is a feeling of disappointment.

From private interviews had with members of the provisional government it is clear that the determination has been reached in the Cabinet council to carry out the original terms of the revolutionary proclamation of last January, which demanded without compromise, annexation to the United States. Ministers W. O. Smith and J. A. King have stated the final conclusions of the government.

The Second Day of the Grand Lodge.

The Prohibition Question Comes Up for Debate.

It is Decided Not to Affiliate With Any Party.

Petition to Congressman Bowers-Meet-ing of the State Grange at Petaluma -A $33,000 Fire at Turlock-Other News

By Telegraph to The Times

SANTA BARBARA, Oct. 4.-(Special.) The second day of the Grand Lodge of Good Templars here was taken up with miscellaneous business. Past Su-preme Chief Templar Katzenstein conferred the Supreme Lodge degree on a number of members of the Grand Lodge.

Everything went on smoothly until the question came up as to whether or not the State Good Templar organiration should declare itself in favor of the Prohibition party politically. Then the fight came up, the Prohibition party advocates were in fighting trim, and the members who believed in "no po-litical restrictions" were on band.

After a heated and spirited discussion, it was decided that the Good Templar lodges decline to affiliate with any polodges decline to affiliate with any po-litical organization, and leave each individual member free to vote as his onscience dictates.

Some other legislation was accom plished, and the lodge adjourned to an outing proposed for them by the local order. The delegates .were driven around the city to the old Mission, Esplanade, and the many pictur_sque canyons around Santa Barbara. Those who were nautically inclined took a asil in the channel.

The evening session was devoted entirely to the reports and legislation concerning the Good Templars' Home for orphans at Vallejo.

The election of officers takes place Thursday. Theodore H. Kanouse of Tropico Lodge, Glendale, Los Angeles county, who has been the head of the Supreme Lodge, and A. F. Baker of Galt, are mentioned as prominent candidates for the office of Grand Chief,

ST. PAUL, Oct. 4.—(By the Associated Press.) A letter from Henry Clay has been discovered among the papers of the late Gen. H. H. Sibley, which are now being examined by the His-torical Society. It was addressed to David Lambert, the pioneer St. Paul lawyer, who resided at Little Rock, Ark., in 1840. It has been often charged that Clay did not acquiesce in the nom-ination of William Henry Harrison, but this letter seems to effectually dis-pose of the matter. Gov. Fishback of Arkansas Makes an Address-Extension of the Water Routes is Urged-A Bullion Bureau Demanded.

By Telegraph to The Times. ST. LOUIS, Oct. 4.—(By the Associated Press.) When the Pan-American Bimetallic League met this morning, the Committee on Resolutions not being ready to report, the convention proceeded to consider general business. Letters of regret and sympathy from A. J. Warner of Washington, D. C., Congressman R. P. Blank, Gov. William M. Fishback of Arkansas, T. L. Nugent of Texas, David Obermeyer of Kansas and others. That of Gov. Fishback was an extensive statistical argument for bimetallism, and the use of water routes to the gulf and thence to Europe, thus reducing freight ex-penses and thereby giving the Mississippi Valley the position it deserves in the commercial world.

With the finishing of the reading of the letters, Walter N. Allen of Kansas the letters, Walter N. Allen of Kansas was introduced and briefly, as a farmer, addressed the convention, pleading for free coinage, but more especially denouncing what is known as the "exception clause" in the silver act, which provides for the naming of any other money than silver in contracts, if so desired. With this as a test, he argued that the silver dollar is even now demonitized, for it was in the power of individuals to refuse to accept it

On behalf of the Knights of Labor delegates present, T. A. Osborne of Kansas presented the convention with an address indorsing its objects. After-reviewing in general terms the present financial and labor situation, it urges an increase of the medium of exchange; pledges opposition to the destruction of sliver as money, favors free, unlimited colonage of sliver at the ratio of 16 to 1, and closes with a resolution to "lay aside all other issues for the present, and ask the South and West to unite on the remonetization of sliver." "As the East is solid against it, the address continued, "so let the West and South stand together and pay the East its bond according to contract, but no more." Incidentally, it urged the convention to educate and vote, instead of remaining ignorant, and having to shoot.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL OFFICE OF THE TIMES,

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 4, 1893. New York Stocks.

New York dispatches state that the speculative situation on the Stock Exchange has settled down into a game of watch and wait, with Washington as the change has settled down into a game of watch and wait, with Washington as the point on which all eyes are fixed. Today, the general feeling was that silver repeal was gaining ground, and consequently the majority of traders were on the bull side of the house. At the very opening of the day there was a fractional decline, but it was only momentary, and the sellers became buyers. Realizations followed, but before noon the upward movement was resumed. It was not until the final dealings that sales to realize brought about a fractional loss, the general list at the first of the sellers of What a Man Arrested for Adultery Says of the Charge.

John T. Green, a man of about 39 years of age, was arrested yesterday and taken before Justice Austin, where he was arraigned on a charge of adultery, after which he was lodged in the County Jali tery, after which he was lodged in the County Jail.

Green was married eight years ago to Sadie Heryford, daughter of Thomas Heryford, who was then living at a place known as Elizabeth Lake, in the northern part of the county. He afterward removed to San Francisco, where he remained for some time.

He later on went to Chicago, leaving his wife at the city on the bay. He sent her money occasionally for a time, but, so the story goes, he finally

Meanwhile Green had been paying attention to Miss M. B. Watson, the daughter of the landlady at his lodginghouse, and had won her affections from another young man paying court to her. A letter written afterward by this young lady to the abandoned wife states that he at first represented himself as a widower, but that at a latertime he admitted his wife was living. He said, however, that she had married him for his money, and he expected to get a divorce from her soon.

The young man finally came to Los Angeles again, and was seen in compary with a third woman, who is supposed to have gone to Chicago. This is the woman with whom it is charged that he has lived in adultery.

It is stated, on the part of the prosecution, that Green claims to have a divorce from his first wife, which fact would clear him from prosecution on the charge. It is also said that if he has such divorce it must have been obtained through perjury, for which he can be convicted. If it can be shown that he has married another woman then there is a case of bigamy.

Green was seen at the County Jail that he has married another woman then there is a case of bigamy. Green was seen at the County Jail by a Times reporter. He said that he did not wish to say much about the affair just at present. He would state, however, that the whole thing was a scheme to extort money from him. The preliminary examination in the case has been set for next Wednesday.

LOS ANGELES THEATER-The Sou-

A Plea for Bimetallism.

There are two articles on the money question in the September number of the Pall Mall Magazine, Waldorf Astor's publication. The first is an argu-ment against bimetallism by Mr. Astor himself, which is written in the flippant and self-satisfied style of one who knows all about it and is impatient with those who do not agree with him. The second is an interesting article presenting the case for silver, and is written by W. H. Grenfell. The writer shows that, according to the opinion of all the leading writers on this subject, the purchasing power of money is in direct proportion to volume of money existing. This fact being admitted, the next important thing is to discover why the volume of ney is being diminished. Mr. Grenfell claims to show that the volume of tallic money throughout the world has, during the last twenty years, been at a time when the increase of trade and population demand an exthe financial world, the position once pansion of the currency. He shows that the bimetallic Bank of France is coming more and more the center of held without dispute by the Bank of England. . Two prevailing fallacies in regard to the present and prospective of silver in existence are exposed as follows: "The first is the general belief that the United States of America have asses of silver with which they want flood the European markets. This I believe to be an entire miscon tion The silver in the United States Treasury is performing the function of as money by circulating in the form of notes, and these notes are not more than is required by the enormous country they circulate in, as is shown by the careful tables compiled by Senator Jones, who shows that silver has rather appreciated than otherwise. The second is that silver can be produced to almost an unlimited amount. This I lieve to be also a miconception. The great silver mines of the world have en the Potosi, the Comstock, and the Broken Hill. The first two are played out—in fact, of late years, the Com-stock has been producing 60 per cent. of gold to 40 per cent. of silver, and America has now been so thoroughly ransacked for generations that it is more than improbable that another Comstock should make its appearance. The scientific and expert opinion given at the Brussels conference pointed to the fact that the production of silver. both in the States and in Mexico had thed its maximum, and would in the future: fall off; as, indeed, Prof. Suess ('Future of Gold,') of the University of Vienna, states will also be the case with gold, as nine-tenths of stock of gold existing in the world has been obtained from 'placers,' which 'It is certain,' he says, 'that gold alone will never become the money of the world, in which the needs of industry will be met.' John Locke ("Considerations," pub-lished 1690,) said: "Money, while the same quantity of it is passing up and down the kingdom in trade, is really a standing measure of the falling and rising value of other things in referto one another, and the alteration in price is truly in them only. But if you increase or lessen the quantity of money current in traffic in is in the money."

"The purchasing power of money is in direct proportion to the volume of money existing."

In addition, it continues:
"Our very energy and activity in productive labor of mind or body lead us to overlook the crude and neglected places in our life. Thus myriads of people swept back and forth daily over the Brooklyn Bridge entirely overlooking the unsightly condition of things about the eastern end of that structure until a French writer pointed to it. Scores of things quite as unsightly grow among us gradually and the accustomed eyebusy, too, with other things—does not notice them. The stranger sees them at once and criticises them. Too often, instead of calmly studying the subject with a view to deciding whether his criticism is just, of only a result of his own provincial prejudices, we fly into a passion and scold unpleasantly. "There is much to be learned from the remarks made to reporters and others by the French workmen who are visiting the fair Their very presence, brought about in the manner it has been is a most significant auggestion for us. The Health Officer's Report on Public Buildings.

wing report for your consideration: I regret to have to state that since m report there has been but little revement in the sanitary condition a majority of the buildings; and I may say the suggestions made in the ast report still apply in most cases.

Many of the public buildings are not properly ventilated. Much improvement in the ventilation of some of these will dings can be made and at a very suite of the second of the seco ings can be made, and at a very cost, by hinging the transoms al bottom instead of at the top reby directing the current of air to reby directing the current of air to reciling, where the current will be ken and the air diffused through room. Certain ceiling ventilators, it those in floors and near the base of ms. acting a greater portion of the the room. Certain ceiling ventilators, and those in floors and near the base of rooms acting a greater portion of the time as fresh air inlets, and producing direct currents upon the heads or feet of pupils should be closed, if it is possible to provide sufficient fresh air by window or transoms, or should be muffled by placing in each ventilator a break, consisting of a thin sheet of cotton batting, held between two sheets or wire guaze, which will break the force of the current and cause a gradual diffusion of air into the room. Whenever possible windows should be opened from the top, unless shades are so hung as to produce a downward current in which case other provision for ventilation should be made. In fact, with all or most of the attempts at ventilation in the school buildings, it requires much attention and close observation on the part of each teacher and janitor to derive any benefit at all, and in some buildings it is utterly impossible to prevent pupils from being exposed. These should be remedied as early as possible.

There are certain buildings which are

Interest are certain buildings which are overcrowded and poorly lighted.

Many buildings are improperly and insufficiently heated, and this is a matter that should receive attention before the rainy season sets in.

There have been some improvements in the plumbing in a few of the school buildings. The plumbing fixtures in many school buildings are permanently inclosed, hence the ignitors do not have inclosed, hence the ignitors do not have y school buildings are permanently based, hence the janitors do not have access to them. I would suggest hinged doors be put into inclosiof all plumbing fixtures in order the janitors may be enabled to nout the traps as often as once were the part of the par n every four or six weeks.

There are broken basins in some buildings; there are also urinals not in use. The former should be repaired and the latter sealed, for any trap not in use will lose its water seal by evaporation, and thereby admit foul air into the building from the correct search. building from the sewer or cess There are also fixtures untrappe and unvented which are dangerous be-cause of these defects, they will ad-mit foul air from sewers or cesspools. On account of defective stopcocks in anks some water-closets are insuffi-ciently flushed, and in a few buildings here are urinals without any provision for flushing them.

Privy vaults should be dispensed with wherever possible. I find at East First-street school very objectionable privy vaults which should be filled, and latrine water-closets that have

I would suggest that all repairs be made so that the plumbing in the public school buildings conform to the sanitary regulations.

tary regulations.

Surface drainage should be attended to in many yards in order that storm water cannot enter of run into the basements of buildings and form pools of stagnant water, as has been the case in the past at several buildings.

The plumbing at the County Jall is undergoing repairs and improvements. The cell used for the detention of the insane awaiting committal to the asylum is poorly ventilated; and the fact of confining sin insane person in a jall among criminals, where he can see and hear them, is confirmatory of his illusions of persecution, and is also revolting to the sensibilities of all good citizens; heface I would suggest, as there are already cells prepared for the reception of the insane at the County Hospital, that such persons be detained at the latter institution.

The urinal at the East-side police station is filthy and unvented, and the water-closet insufficiently flushed and in a foul condition. The old cesspool which is under the house, should be filled up, as the plumbing is now connected with the sewer.

The City Prison is kept in as sanitary a condition as the construction of the building will permit, which needs no comment, as the plumbing and the construction of the building are equally at fault.

In conclusion, I take pleasure in

In conclusion, I take pleasure in acknowledging my obligations to the Superintendent of Buildings, and his assistant, the Plumbing Inspector, for their help in making the inspection of public buildings.

As soon as the report of the Health Officer was read Dr. Kurtz asked what were to be understood as public buildings. Were not the theaters to be included.

Dr. Gillingham said that he supposed

Dr. Gillingham said that he supposed that the term public building was mean to apply to those buildings which belonged to the public.

Dr. Kurtz said that he believed something should be done about the Los Angeles Theater. The exit was in such shape that if there should be a fire there would be danger of many persons being crushed to death.

Mayor Rowan said he thought the Fire Commission was the proper body to consider the matter.

Health Officer Powers spoke in reference to the substance of his report. He said that it was somewhat like the report in reference to schools which he presented to the Board of Education several months ago. For some reason the board had ignored it. School building after school building was in an unsanitary condition. Sorie of them had mire and stagmant water underneath. The cost of making the larger portion of such improvements would be but little.

After due consideration the report of the Health Officer was adopted, and After due consideration the report of the Health Officer was adopted, and that officer was requested to appear before the next meeting of the board and urge that songething should be done in the matter.

A communication from J. P. Trafton stated that the plumbing work for his new house at Ocean View avenue and Bonnie Brae street had been done under contract with the firm of Haverty & Co. Instead of connecting with the sewer as he believed the firm should do, the pipe had been extended but two or three feet from the house. Mr. Trafton apeared and asked that the license for plumbing issued to the firm of Haverty & Co. should be revoked.

Voked.

The matter being a question of the requirements of the contract rather than one of the provisions of health regulations, the board took no action on it.

regulations, the board took no action on it.

A communication from R. A. Henderson, in reference to plumbing, was referred to the Plumbing Inspector.

Dr. Kurtz moved to recommend to the City Council the erection of public urinals at the plaza at Central (Sixth street) Park, and on the vacant lot adjoining the City Hall. Adopted.

Dr. McGowan moved that the Health Officer present a requisition for $20 for drugs used for free dispensary purposes. No action taken.

The Health Officer reported verbally in reference to the Cudahy Packing Company's grounds, as to the unsanitary condition complained of at previous meetings of the board. He stated that the place had been put in as good condition as possible, and there had been an evident effort to comply with all instructions from the Health Department. There appeared to be about as much complaint of other places in that locality as of the Cudahy works.

The board then adjourned.

was participated in by a great number, and was a deserved tribute to the popular pastor and his estimable wife. A canopy of fan palms intertwined with vines in front of the center of the platform under which the couple sat, was a beautiful piece of work, and made an ideal throne before which the throng passed, bidding welcome and extending congratulations. In the center of the tabernacle was a large fan palm, seemingly growing out of a dwarfed cone, and every point of vantage was utilized in adorning the pillars, platform, organ, lamps and any and every place upon which it was possible to place vines and flowers.

UNITY CLUB OPENING NIGHT.

The throng of interested people in attendance upon the Unity Club's opening night was a happy omen for the second annual lecture course. After an address by W. H. Knight, president, an excellent programme followed, including several songs by the Aeolian Quartette (Mrs. Burdette and Misses Knecht, O'Melveny and Lockhart,) recitals by Mrs. Ludlam and Miss Harrison, a solo by Mr. Barr and the beautiful "Shepherd's Song," by Sapio, sung by Miss Katherine Kimball. There were also five-minute speeches by Messrs. Patterson and Jordan, vice-presidents, and the poem "Ships at Sea" was read by Mr. Dobinson. By request Mrs. Burdette sang the solo "Fauns and Nymphs." It was a programme of good numbers finely rendered, and those who had it in charge are to be heartly thanked for such an evening of enjoyment.

The grand chorus of 100 voices and full orchestra of twenty-four pieces are splendidly trained, and every indication points to a crowded house on Friday night. This oratorio has been prepared and will be brought out under great expense, and it is designed to afford the lovers of really fine music one of the artistic opportunities of the season.

This play was given its birth amid the highest expecta-tions of all theater-going London on the stage of the Drury Lane Theater of the English metropolis, and is from the pens of those most prolific and suc-cessful of all melodramatic writers, Henry Pettit and Sir Augustus Harris. It is an elaborate and expensive proan elaborate and expensive pro-on, and in its presentation are ed two carloads of special scenery, comprising eighteen complete sets, wenty-eight people in the actual speaking cast and 300 auxillaries, two military bands, one drum corps, a dozen vivacious Arabian horses and many tons of intricate and odd para-

LETTERS TO THE TIMES. The Bicycle Ordinance.
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 3.—(To the Edfor of The Times.) I notice the com ments in today's edition, on the bleycle ordinance presented to the City Council on September 25, and would like to in-quire what the wheelmen base their on september 25, and would like to inquire what the wheelmen base their belief on, who say they believe, the gentlemen who signed it, did so under a misapprehension. I know most of them read it over carefully, and some took days to consider it, and most of them belong to a class of men who do not sign their names carelessly; and as to its absurdity, and being ridiculous and unheard of, that is only the opinion of one-sided, ignorant and thoughtless people, and it was intended to operate, as you state, "that no cyder could appear on the streets without an official permit," which covers one year's time, however. And, as to the license—we tax dogs, why not blcycles? Nether have any rights on the public streets, except as licensed, and it is quite likely their use on the streets could be enjoined by the courts, if applied to by any citizen, and abolished as a nuisance, which they are becoming in all cities, to those who do not use them.

A Correction.

RIVERSIDE (Cal.,) Oct. 4.-(To the Editor of The Times.) In reading your article on "Irrigation" in your issue of this date I notice an apparent error per acre to owners of land under the Gage canal system. Instead of the case canal system. Instead of the cost being $5 per acre, as you have made it to appear, it is only half that sum for the improved lands, and $2 per acre for the unimproved. ASSESSMENT

The controversy between the Cit cens' League and County Auditor Lope s becoming interesting. In reply to Mr. Lopez's criticisms, the leagu is becoming interesting. In reply the Mr. Lopez's criticisms, the league makes the following statement:
"The Citizens' League has maintained."

"The Citizens' League has maintaine that the sum of $3500, paid for extend ing the taxes last year, was such a exorbitant, figure for this work, and that it could only be accounted for on the supposition that political debts wer being paid at the expense of the already tax-ridden community, and that the same should be done this year for $700 and that the league has shown by the statements of the auditors of Alameda and San Joaquin counties, particularly and San Joaquin counties, particular, Alameda county, where there are mor than 800 pages more to compute than it this county, that it costs Alameda people only $719.30, or an average of less than 9 cents per page. In addition to the statements of the abovenamed gentlemen, the league wishes to give the following statements also: The one statement, made by a gentleman who is well and favorably known as one of the hear accounts. who is well and favorably known as one of the best accountants on he Coast, and who is a fellow of the American Accountants' Association of New York, an organization to which only he best and most competent men are idmitted. He has been employed to a number of years past as the experiof the grand jury in this county, and iso on many occasions by the Boardof Supervisors. The maker of the oter statement has been a bookkeeper and accountant for many years.

"To the Executive Committee of he Citizens' League of Los Angeles—entlemen: I. W. R. Rackman, of he accountant for many years.

"To the Executive Committee of he Citizens' League of Los Angeles entemen: I. W. R. Blackman, of he city of Los Angeles, State of Califoria, state that I am throughly familar with the work of exending the tres on the assessment rol of Los Angles county, as provided by law, and nke the following statement, that a empetent man can cosplete thirtyive pages per day of this work, aversing both city and county books. The a good accountant or eipert, as suchare familiarly called, ought to do an ferage of sixty-five to eventy pagesper day. In my opinion, at 10 centsper page, good wages culd be mad by an average man. An expert suld make $7.50 per day and upward. aking the city books, mrtgage booksand many pages of the country boks, which are mostly filed with $5 and $10 lots, this could be quadrupled in a day, and I am satisfied that I ould complete a city book in a day. The statement made by a uditor Lpez, that the cost is $1850, is probablycorrect. In my opinion, ne-half of this sum would be a very liberal amount for this work, and I hink that this could be materially reduced, and rood pay made by competen men.

"LOS ANGELES, Cl. Oct 4, 193.

"In answer to your inquiry of this date, would say that from long xperience as a bookkeepe and accountant and after having examined some 4 the assessment rolls of the county o Los Angeles for the year 1898, I am satisfied that at a compensation of 10 cents per page, a fairly competent accountant could make very good wages, and I would be willing to undertake the work myself, at that figure."

In connection with the above, Mr. Griffith, of the league sail: "In yesterday morning's papers appeared an effusion from County Auditor Lopez in defense of the extrivagance in computing the taxes. I lesire to answer the same, in as few cords as possible. The Executive Committee of the Citizens' League have not apparently put themselves to considerable trouble in endeavoring to ferret out figures, but it does seem that the only parties who are troubled about these figures are Auditor Lopez and insarmy of cormorants who eat up the taxpayers money and empty the coffers of the county treasury. The law in reference to computing taxes is a general law, and must be compiled with in the same manner in Alameda, aid every other county in this State, a it is in Los Angeles county. If, so Mr. Lopez states, he does other vork than the statute requires, why loos he do it he does other statute requires; why loes he do if not for the purpose of feeding army of political friend and hang on, among whom may le found incompetent men? Thee is no of that the Auditor employed some and able mer, but thes did the of the work, while the incompet incompetent men? Thee is no doubt that the Auditor employed some good and able mer, but thes did the most of the work, while the 'incompetents' drew the same pay.

"I cannot see what my assessment has to do with this entroversy, and would not touch on this matter, but for the fact that Courly Auditor Lopez makes statements h his communication which he as a luditor knows (or at least, by virtue of his position,) ought to know are falle and without foundation. Mr. Lopez states that I made a sworn's statement that my property valuation was only $35,000. He knows from his own experience as a taxpayer, that the billy statement made to the Assessor, is the fact that he owns such property as named in the statement, and does not place any valuation thereon, but the law particularly prohibits him from doing so, requiring the Assessor to fix the value, which the Assessor to the probably he would not make such misstatements.

As I pay all the taxes and expenses of running the place, the probablity is that more than $50 worth of this property is vested in me.

"In reference to Atameda county and the Auditor's employees of the same for doing seventy-five pages per day. I have Auditor Whidden's statement of this fact, and it is probable that the law is complied with in that county, and that when overwork is required, it is done without extra caarge; most of the year, the employees of the Auditor's office in this county, have time to make visits

"Gullty, Your Honor," replied the defendant, in a low voice.

Before sentence was pronounced, Mr. Haas begged the indulgence of the court for a few minutes. He desired to appeal for mercy in behalf of Horton. The defendant had always borne a good reputation, and stood well in the community. What prompted him to commit the wrong the attorney did not know, but he did know that Horton desired to serve out his time as soon as possible, and return to this city to live down the disgrace that had fallen upon him. The court was therefore importuned to make the sentence as light as possible.

Judge Shaw said that he was inclined to be lenient in view of the circumstances attending the case, and he therefore would order that Horton be imprisoned in San Quentin for a period of one year.

imprisoned in San Quentin for a period of one year.

There was nothing brazen in the accused's manner, and he was evidently sincerely penitent for his crime, and anxious to make amends. When the judge pronounced the minimum sentence, he uttered an earnest "Thank you," as his attorney asked that the commitment be made out at once, in order that the time might be served out as soon as possible.

DECREPIT AND CHILDISH.

John S. Spinks, a feeble old man.

John S. Spinks, a feeble old man, was ordered committed to the asylum John S. Spinks, a feeble old man, was ordered committed to the asylum at Highlands yesterday by Judge Van Dyke, after the examining physicians had duly declared it their belief that the man was insane. Spinks is the inoffensive old fellow who has been wandering about the streets for so many weeks, doing nothing but drinking whisky, when he could get the latter, and sleeping free of expense in the vagrant cell at police headquarters. Not only has he been in the habit of getting his lodgings at the city's expense, but he also has usually managed to get a ride in the $750 patrol wagon several times in the course of each week, the officers being obliged to send him in when they found him lying in the gutter drunk and unable to walk. Becoming the cause of considerable trouble and expense about the city prison, Spinks was sent down to the County Farm on two different occasions, but in both instances he managed to escape, and find his way back to the city, where he as quickly lapsed back into his old slovenly habits.

It was thought that he would be much better off in the asylum, and as there was no doubt but that he was not right in his mind, he was adjudged insane and ordered committed.

FRY WAS SURPRISED.

Michael Carnahan and Edward Fry, although companions in crime, are now at outs. Both men were arrested for burglary, and when Carnahan was called up to plead, a few days since, he shouldered the blame manfully, and entered his plea of guilty as charged. Fry, who plead of not guilty, was very much taken-aback by this action on the part of his colleague, and yesterday, when he was called upon to prepare for trial, his counsel offered an affidavit in support of a motion for a continuance, in which the defendant swore that it had just come to his knowledge that Carnahan intended to testify against him, and that he desired time in which to secure depositions from San Francisco people in order to break down Carnahan's character for truth and veracity.

The motion was allowed, and the trial set down for October 27. Michael Carnahan and Edward Fry,

THE FEDERAL COURTS.

There was a charge in the programme in the United States District. Court yestenday. The Chinese cases, including that of Charles Ah Him, the notorions highbinder, were called soon after the opening of court, but on account of the absence of Mr. Hotch-kiss were continued until Friday. The balance of the session was devoted to the jury trial of Manuel Beneges, charged with selling liquor to an Indian named Antonio Chavez.

The trial lasted all morning, and it was clearly proven that the defendant sold some wine to the person named, near the hot springs, on Warner's ranch, in San Diego county. Evidence was, however, introduced showing that the buyer was not a full-blooded Indian. The jury was convinced that his father was a Mexican, and for that reason acquitted Beneges.

In the afternoon the examination of Louise Matros, an Indian woman from the Soboba reservation, near San Jacinto, took place before United States Commissioner Van Dyke. This unnatural daughter, though now of penitent milen, was chargen with committing an assault with a deadly weapon upon the person of her father, a patriarchial-looking Indian. It is claimed the old man threatened her with a eucalyptus limb, whereupon she ran into the house and procuring a double-barreled shotgun, discharged one of the loads at her parents. The old Indian was winged in the left shoulder, but not wounded seriously. She was allowed to go on her own recognizance to await the action of the grand jury.

AH HIM'S CAPTURE.

The Wily Highbinder Had Been in Hiding.

Only Taken After Some Adroit Cloves on the Part of Deputy Marshal Johnson-Charley Ah Him's Partnerships.

United States Marshal Gard, with Deputies Rehling and Burns and additional guards, yesterday left for the North, having twenty-five China-men in charge. They travel in a spe-cial car and will arrive in San Francisco today. The Marshal expects to be served with a notice of appeal in each case, in which event he will place the Mongolians in the Alameda County

Mongolians in the Alameda County
Jall as heretofore.

Deputy Marshal Harry Johnson yes, terday related the story of the recent capture of Charley Ah Him in San Diego. It seems that the smooth and oily celestial was not exactly keeping within the bounds of truth when he told a Times reporter that he had never hidden himself from the officers, who were searching for him. Johnson says that he was in San Diego several days before he "got onto" the whereabouts of Charley Ah Him. The Chinaman was secreted and Him. The Chinaman was secreted and well entrenched, and was not only protected by his own countrymen, but also by certain white men. These lastnamed, while pretending to aid Johnson in his search, purposely threw him off the track, and then reported to Ah Him. Johnson says he sat all of one afternoon in the hayloft of a livery-stable watching a saloon on the opposite side of the street, where, it was said, the highbinder came to have a daily "smile." But no Charley Ah Him appeared, and Johnson concluded that he was following a false scent. He, therefore, decided on a different plan of action.

he was following a false scent. He, therefore, decided on a different plan of action.

The following morning Johnson took particular pains to inform everybody that he was tired of the job, and was going back to Los Angeles. He paid his hotel bill, packed his valise, and ostentatiously ordered a hackman to drive him to the railway station. Just after he had entered the cab, one of the officers who had been giving Johnson "points," told the hackman to come back from the depot as soon as the train left, as there was another job waiting him. Johnson now knew that he had been "played," and after arriving at the station, took particular pains to make his departure as noticeable as possible.

When about a mile out of town, the officer asked the conductor to stop the train. Johnson alighted and waited till dark, when he walked back to the city. He went immediately to the Sheriff's office, and, following another clew, he finally located and arrested his man, who was taken unawares, as detailed in the Associated Press dispatches.

Charley Ah Him will, no doubt, enfeation to practice that the was, and is a merchant. He was formally in partnership with Tom Bing, and also claimed to have a present interest in another store, the location of which he refused to disclose, when in conversation with a reporter Tuesday night. A trip to Chinatown brought out the fact that the "other store" is that of Quong Tsue Lung, on the south side of the Plaza. One of the celestials in this place stated last night that not only is Charley Ah Him a partner in the concern, but that the firm consisted of thirteen members. This statement will probably be modified in the trial, as it is known that Judge Ross places very little confidence in these extensive partnerships. Or, finding that the name of the firm has been disclosed in advance, it is just as possible that some other Chinese store with a present

ORE new goods today. We are feeling the pulse of the market. As the trade begins to grow we add more of the newest the market affords. Fresh today, some of the daintiest creations for the baby in cloaks and bonnets-embroidered in silk-real China Silk, soft and delicate to the touch, and the richest in designs we have ever shown. Again and again. More new Muslin Underwear. Hardly on our shelves before another order is made for Muslin Underwear. One, two and three orders a week in the big growing Muslin Underwear Department. Growing, growing, growing. Worth models in Royal Worcester Corsets. The pride of all good dressmakers is a perfect fitting corset to fit over. The Worth model, with the perfect French steamed bust-with the double back wires-with the graceful curves at the top and bottom, secured only by a Worth model in a Royal Worcester Corset, with an extra long waist that fits the human form divine. You can secure this graceful fit only in a Worth model. An elegant dressed lady secures an elegant fit only by wearing a proper corset adapted to her figure; she secures this with a famous Worth model in a Royal Worcester Corset. Come here and have your corset fitted by the only Royal Worcester fitters. They will show you the good points; they will point out the reasons why you should wear a certain corset; you will then see the reason why the corset trade grows, grows, grows. How the big Cloak Department grows. It is coming now with a rush; a few days of cooler weather and the best sellers will begin to dwindle. The best time to buy cloaks is now; it is one price; no discount; plain figures; big stocks and good treatment. Selling more cloaks than ever before; no deception; no deviations; no urging sales. Good treatment is accorded lookers as well as buyers, and the cloak trade feels the impulse of this. More new cloaks for ladies: hundreds of new cloaks for children and misses; prices from $2.50 up; moderate prices. You are absolutely safe in our big Cloak Department; and the dress goods trade grows larger and larger. Every available hand was behind the dress goods counter selling dress goods yesterday, and still we were short of hands. More new hands will be added today. We will keep up with the big trade that is now before us. From now on until Christmas trainloads of people will be coming this way. There will be a quickening all along the line. The dress goods trade is the most important of all the others, and we will have all the new ideas in moderate priced goods. Velvets in every shade, velveteens in every shade, silks in every shade. A choice lot of novelties are now being displayed. Silks and velvets are the proper trimming. More of the moderate priced goods, more of the newer shades. Ten shades in green, as many more in heliotrope, and every shade in the new popular brown. Havana as well. Come and come again. You will always find the hands willing to show whether you are a looker or a buyer. We strive to be known as a live, wide-awake house, and employ help that will endeavor to carry out this idea. It is time to buy. It is the selling time of the year. Millinery at moderate prices. The largest assortment at a medium price. Expert trimmers. Fine workmanship goes hand in hand with the lowest prices.

A PASADENA INVENTION.

J. E. Louthian, Assistant City En-gineer, has received a patent upon a novel and practical hose coupling, novel and practical hose coupling, which has advantages over any now in use. Its chief merit consists in the fact that the two parts are exact duplicates. Any two hose ends fitted with this coupler may be instantly and perfectly fitted together. The fastenings are composed of two broad, brass hooks on each hose-end. These hooks, in turn, are firmly locked by a moveable ring surrounding the coupler, whose action is that of a wedge drawing the hooks into a perfect lock. The coupling is strong, mechanically complete, devoid of intricactes, and appring to be wholly practical. RASADENA BREVITIES.

Orange-growers Moving in the Matter of Organization.

Large Meeting Wednesday Morning-Prof. Andrews' Bullionist Theory-Ontarlo's Tax Rate-Notes and Personals.

Pursuant to a call issued by H. B Muscutt, horticultural commissioner for this county, about forty orange-growers of San Bernardino county met at Davis Hall, at 10 a.m., on Wednesday Mr. Muscutt was made chairman of the meeting, and W. C. Fuller of Colton was elected secretary. In a few re-marks, outlining the objects of the meeting, as one for furthering organimeeting, as one for furthering organi-zation and exchange of views by grow-ers, especially to hear the presenta-tion of the plans of T. H. B. Chamblin of Riverside and W. E. Collins of Onta-rio. After reading a list of Jelegates the meeting was declared an open one. Mr. Chamblin was then called, and he continued speaking and answering continued speaking and answering questions until 12:30, when a recess of an hour was taken, and Mr. Chamblin again took the floor, and continued his remarks until 3 p.m. Among the meany things spoken of the following is the substance of some of the points covered:

points covered:
About three thousand carloads are now solid in the organization. The crops of Southern California will probcrops of Southern California will probably be seven thousand carloads next scacon. The method of organization is to form local organizations, these to form local organizations, these to form into districts with boards of control, and these all to unite under an executive board. All fruit beings branded as to locality, damaged fruit in one locality will not have a deleterious effect upon fruit from any locality in which there is no freeze to damage it. The fruit is to be started at the beginning of the season at a lower price than heretofore; and marketed all through the season in an advancing market. Every locality will endeavor to build up its own locality brand in the market. By organized marketing, the expense to Southern California will be reduced. By allowing 5 cents a box a crop of 6000 carloads will give a fund of $90,000, which will be sufficient to keep agents in every State in the Union in which oranges are sold in quantity, giving them $1800 a year salary, and leave some $9000 for incidentals. This might be doubled, making 10 cents a box the tax for marketing, and it would be but a small part of what is paid now, for it cost over a million dollars last year. The fruit will go to, market properly labeled, according kg in the exact grade in the box. Smutty, or inferior fruit, will not only be labeled according to quality or grade, but the locality brand will always tend to more and more carefully grading and handling. Standard sizes and qualities would be sold at uniform prices. By pooling the fruit the damaged fruit can be handled by the association, and, being branded as such, it goes into the market without endangering the market for good fruit from that or any other locality. Early and immarting fruit should not be marketed. Solicity ors, working for the sale for any particular brand, should be compensated by the growers of that brand. A more careful handling of fruit will be secured. Packing-houses now handle the fruit in an outrageously careless manner. Yet with the careful handling, it will be d ably be seven thousand carloads ne season. The method of organization sions upon gross receipts.

W. E. Collins of Ontario explained

W. E. Collins of Ontario explained the methods employed in that region. He said that he considered the organization almost perfect, and the contract for the fruit a binding one. The necessity of immediate action was urged, though those who are working for organization should not be discouraged. The Highlands delegates reported that the growers of that region are in favor of organization, almost to a man, but want to know definitely what the character of the organization is to be. After considerable discussion as to methods and quality of fruit in different localities, it was decided, by a unanimous rising vote, that active steps should be taken at once to organize local and district associations. The opinion was expressed that efforts evently harder to induce growers. forts should be made to induce growers from districts which have held aloof to come into the organization, and to secure in such regions meetings, to be addressed by those active in organizing the orange-growers of Southern Cali-fornia. The thanks of the meeting were tendered, by a rising vote, to Mr. Chamblin for his address. Adjourned to meet at call of the order for the sale, and it was 4 o clock before the final bid was received, and the last entry made on the sale book. The party accompanying Mr. Thomas was composed of Messrs. Alvord and Brown, Thomas McKee, Lovell White and Judge Allen of San Francisco; Edward B. Smith of Chicago; Gen. M. H. Sherman, E. P. Clark, Charles Silant, and J. J. Aiken of this city.

Prof. C. N. Andrews's bullionist plan for the finances of the country seem to be spreading with wonderful rapidity. He is being flooded with marked copies of papers and letters of inquiry from all over the United States. He has prepared most of the salient features of his plan in the form of a circular, in which he states his law and theorem of finance as applied to a monetary system, consisting; of certificates based upon gold and silver bullion helfi by the government. Prof. Andrews has devoted much time to the study of the financial question, especially during the past three years, and thinks he has solved the money problem. Many in this city, especially among the busines men, of which class Prof. Andrews is a prominent mem_{t/t} ber, consider the theories advanced by him sound and practicable, and would like to see the system adopted by the United States.

Silini, and J. J. Aiken of this city.
Col. Pope, attorney for Alvord & Brown, was also one of the party, but very few outsiders attended.
The Washington street terminus was first visited, where some of the personal property was disposed of, and then in turn the drive was made to the barns at Ninth and Twelfth streets, the Grand avenue power-house, the Boyle Heights power-house, the thights power-house, the
the Grand avenue power-house, the sorted barn, the Downey avenue barn, and the Downey avenue barn, and the Downey avenue power-house and yards.

At all of these places sales of personal property were made, E. P. Clarke and Gen. M. H. Sherman of the Consolidated Electric Company, doing all of the bidding on behalf of that company.

The final sale and the most imporpany.

The final sale and the most important one of all was scheduled to be made at 3:30 o'clock in front of the Courthouse, and it went off as ar-

Coughouse, and it went off as arranged.

At 3:15 o'clock Mr. Thomas drove up at the appointed place, and soon after the remainder of the party arrived. All of the gentlemen present represented in some capacity or other the bond-holders of the Pacific Rallway Company.

Up to the time when the last sale was made, the various bids for personal property sold previously amounted to just $17.476.30.

When the time arrived for the final sale to be commenced, the commissioner arose and announced: "I will now sell certain realty of the Pacific Rallway Company, subject to the receiver's certificates, according to the notice, the first of which are lots 9, 10 and 11 of the Montercy tract."

A bid on the first was called for, but no response being made, the three lots were offered in a bunch.

Mr. Clarke bid $12,500, and his bid was accepted. Other property was then bought in by the same bidder, as $500; lots in the Shaffer tract, $500; lots in the Shaffer tract, $500 lot on Fifteenth street, $2000; 2475 shares of stock in the East and West Los Angeles Raliway Company, $50,000; 2477½ shares of stock in City Raffway Company, $25,000; 2477 shares of stock in the Central Railway Company, $50,000; eighty coaches and fifty grip-cars, lanterns, etc., $44,000; all the rights of the Pacific Railway Company in the Ninth-street bridge, $200; miscellaneous lots, $200.

The last items called were the franchises of the cable railway company, with other real property and powerhouses, leased rights, etc. The lump bid on these was $1,31,244.18, completing the total on the whole property of $1,344,20.48.\[

$1,344,320.48. There was no disposition manifested on the part of anyone, other than the Consolidated Electric Company people, Consolidated Electric Company people, to bid on the property but once. That was just noward the close of the sale. A representative of some local people appeared to ask that the lien on the Aliso-street line be apportioned in order that an outside bid might be applied separately, but such a proceeding was, of course, out of the question, and the sale went on as before.

At the conclusion of the days' work the whole party took the train for Pasadena, from where they intended to make a short trip up the mountain railway.

IRRIGATION CONGRESS. Encouraging Reports Received-A Valuable

France is to be represented at the coming irrigation congress by a party of distinguished note, which will arrive in Los Angeles next Sunday. This party embraces Leon Phillippe, director of the Department of Agriculture for the French government; Rene Lefebvre, inspector general of agricultural engineering for France, and M. de Montgolfier, their interpreter and ascistant. The French citizens of the city will probably arrange to meet and receive them.

In consideration of the fact that this is an international congress, the consuls of the various countries will be asked to fly the flags of their respective nations on that occasion.

An Associated Press dispatch, received last evening, says:

"At the last meeting of the State Horticultural Society the president was empowered to appoint three delegates to attend the Irrigation Congress, which meets at Los Angeles on October 10. B. M. The time and place is to be decided by the Executive Committee.

Prof. Lowe, of Pasadena mountain railroad fame, extended an invitation to the union to hold a meeting in Rubio Canyon. The invitation was accepted, and the members of the union will enjoy themselves for one day on the heights above Pasadena, some firme in the near future.

At 7:30 p.m. the praise service began, led by Arthur Sum of Pomona. Aftera song service, and many earnest prayers throughout the assembly, the "minute guns" from each society were heard, these were limited to one minute each, and were loaded much alike, with a concise statement of the year's work. Most of the reports were encouraging, the societies growing in numbers and spiritual life.

He spoke very highly of the "Christian culture courses," as outlined in the Baptist Young People's Union, and urged all the members of the local societies to take up the course of study if possible. A consecration service followed, a large number pledging themselves to earnestly try to win one soul for the Master during the year.

The meeting closed by all clasping hands and singing "Blest be the Tle That Binds." The young people were given a reception at the Grand View Hotel after the session was over, by the Y.P.S.C.E. of the First Baptist. Church of Monrovia. There were about 120 delegates and visitors. The house was well filled by residents, and the meeting was one of great interest and profit.

THE ASSOCIATION. The twenty-fifth annual meeting of the Los Angeles Baptist Association

From Natural Causes. From Natural Causes.
Austiced Bartholomew held an inquest at Garrett, & Samson's yesterday morning over the remains of S. M. Rankin, who had died at the Voss House Monday. The jury rendered a verdict of death from acute asthma. It was learned that Mr. Rankin was employed at the Chino ranch from about the first of August until the latter part of September. Since that ime he had been in the city for treatment. From papers found among his effects an effort was made to find his relatives, but on telegrams being sent for that purpose the information was returned that such relatives could not be that such relatives could not be found. A number of letters of recom-mendation were found, some of them dating back several years. The man had but a small sum of money on his person. The deceased was about 50 years of age.

BAILEY IN JAIL.

The, Confidence Operator Arrested in San Francisco.

Vanted in Detroit for Conspiracy-The Fellow's Career in Los Angeles as a Sporting "Highflier."

The San Francisco papers of Tuesday contain long and highly sensational reports of the arrest of one Thomas Bailey in that city, on a telegram from Detroit, saying that he was wanted for conspiracy, and that a requisition would be sent for him at once. The Examiner says, concerning the case: Chief Crowley says that he has not full information as to the charge on which Bailey is wanted, but understands that it is in connection with one of the most celebrated and sensational kidnaping cases in the country which occurred three years ago in Detroit.

This was the case of a man named Joseph Perrin. Perrin was one of the most prominent capitalists in the city, most prominent capitalists in the city, being a holder of immense real-estate interests, and controlling interests in many large corporations and banks.

One morning the community was startled to hear the news that Perrin had been kidnopped and was being held for a rankom. At first it could hardly be befteved, but his absence from home £nd place of business soon gained credence for the story.

The police began searching high and low for the abducted capitalist, and large rewirds were offered for information as to his whereabouts. Before the police could locate him, he suddenly out in an appearance again and related a most startling story of his disappearance. He said he had been kidnaped by a man who hid him away and at the pistol's mouth forced him to sign checks for $30,000.

Suspicion rested upon man after man, but the authorities were never able to get the right parties. The only thing they were able to discover was the cashing of part of the checks, these having been drawn in amounts of $5000 each. This is as far as they got, however, all of them being simply drawn payable to bearer, and the ones that cashed them, taking care to leave no trace behind.

It was one of the most puzzling cases being a holder of immense real-estate

It was one of the most puzzling case

It was one of the most puzzling cases ever brought before the police department of Detroit, and for over three years officers have been trying to run down the men who stole away and victimized the real estate agent. That they have at last found a clew is evident from the arrest of Bailey, who is said to have kept a saloon there at the time of the kidnaping, but what his connection with the case was, or what the charge against him will be, is at present unknown. He may be wanted as one of the principals, or it is possible the police believe he knows a great deal about the case, and want him as a witnesy. In either event they would take the course they have pursued in order to get him back to Detroit. The man Bailey above referred to is

The man Bailey above referred to is a sure-thing gambler and confidence man, who, with "Cot." George Traylor or Taylor, as he sometimes called himself, played a protracted engagement in this city some months ago, and his picture is on file in Chief Glass's regues' gallery as "Thomas Kenhedy, wanted in Detroit for conspiracy or kidnaping." Balley was "spotted" abortly after his arrival in this city, and the Detroit authorities were notified by Chief Glass, when they replied that no case could be made against Bailey, and that he was not wanted. Balley never made the slightest attempt at concealment while in Los Angeles. On the contrary, he took every means possible to let it be known that he was here, and not here for Los Angeles. On the contrary, he took every means possible to let it be known that he was here, and not here for his health, either. With "Col." Traylor, he occupied a fine suite of apartments at the Nadeau, and nothing was too good for him. The wine bill of the pair was a big item in itself, and it is believed that for at least a part of the time their personal expenses averaged over $100 a day each. They were both well known to the police detectives, and at any time could have been captured. Balley finally married the widow Page, in this city, supposing that she was a wealthy woman, and it was undoubtedly the intention of Balley end Traylor to get possession of the woman's knoney, and desert her. After the wedding Balley found that the property was in such shape that he could not touch it, and, after living with nis wife for several months, he left for Denver, and nothing more has been heard of him until the present time. His wife, in the mean time, secured a divorce from him. Balley also came very near getting in a very serious scrape with a young woman who called herself Miss Lucas, and who claimed that tho festive bunco man had ruined her under promise of marriage. Balley is said to have been a railroad brake man before he went into the saloon business, and afterward graduated as a high-class confidence operator. He was then known as Thomas Kennedy. perator.
